Floyd Eugene Adams enlisted in the Navy during 1952. The Korean Conflict was raging. His first assignment after boot camp was aboard the USS Neches AO47, a tanker carrying JP4 jet aircraft fuel. After being in the fire room he decided very quickly this was not the future for him so he applied and went to an electrical school. Upon completion he was a 2nd Class Electrician and assigned back to the same tanker, still hauling JP4 jet aircraft fuel. Although the ship never went to Korea they did three Mediterranean Sea cruises and were involved in a lot of support work.

After four years of service Floyd was discharged and used the GI Bill to complete his education. As a civilian Floyd worked for Continental and Braniff Airlines. He married Jeanette Adams and they have three children, five grandchildren, and one great-grandson. They are members of the Northgate Baptist Church.

The White Alloe Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution wish to extend our gratitude to Floyd Adams for his service to our Country and are pleased to honor him as our Patriot of the Month.
